To whom it may concern

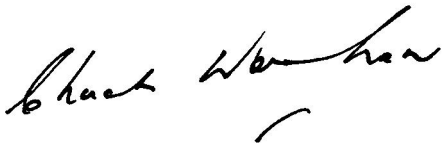

The New Zealand Association of Private Education Providers has been very pleased that we utilised the services of Neil Maitland from Conference Brokers Limited for the organisation of our conferences over recent years when they were held in Wellington.

We found that his guidance in relation to the structure and format required for our conferences has resulted in greater response from our members and a much improved attendance and interest. It enabled us to concentrate on the speakers, topics and content aspects, secure in the knowledge that Conference Brokers would coordinate all the logistical requirements of the conference to a high standard.

Neil assisted us to develop a greater relationship with trade and sponsorship contacts that have enabled us to improve our conference for the benefit of our members. His experience and knowledge of the conference and our own industry provided many savings and a better use of our resources and time. Conference Brokers managed the registration processes, providing reports as necessary, with returns to our members and assistance at the conference that has developed into an on-going pleasurable experience for the attendees at the event. The ability of Conference Brokers to anticipate the potential challenges and develop alternative solutions has also been appreciated.

Neil's attention to detail and insistence on ensuring that the best possible out-come is planned and achieved, have assisted us to continue our relationship over several years.

I would recommend Conference Brokers, and Neil Maitland personally, as the PCO to organise conferences wherever and whenever required.
